LB FRESH

Long Beach Fresh is dedicated to expanding Long Beach's local food economy and infrastructure in ways that benefit our city's diverse local communities. We think that everyone should have affordable access to good food – food that is nutritious, culturally relevant, and that has integrity in how it's produced and distributed.

We host community events and working groups, provide direct consulting to local food businesses and community organizations, promote local innovation in food, and work to create systems-level changes to the food system.
